software. If the software is modified by someone else and passed on, we want its recipients to know that what they have is not the original, so that any problems introduced by others will not reflect on the original authors' reputations.
Finally, any free program is threatened constantly by software patents. We wish to avoid the danger that redistributors of a free program will individually obtain patent licenses, in effect making the program proprietary. To prevent this, we have made it clear that any patent must be licensed for everyone's free use or not licensed at all.
The precise terms and conditions for copying, distribution and modification follow.
GNU GENERAL PUBLIC LICENSE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR COPYING, DISTRIBUTION AND MODIFICATION 0. This License applies to any program or other work which contains a notice placed by the copyright holder saying it may be distributed under the terms of this General Public License. The "Program", below, refers to any such program or work, and a "work based on the Program" means either the Program or any derivative work under copyright law:
that is to say, a work containing the Program or a portion of it, either verbatim or with modifications and/or translated into another language. (Hereinafter, translation is included without limitation in the term "modification".) Each licensee is addressed as "you".
Activities other than copying, distribution and modification are not covered by this License; they are outside its scope. The act of running the Program is not restricted, and the output from the Program is covered only if its contents constitute a work based on the Program (independent of having been made by running the Program).
Whether that is true depends on what the Program does.
1. You may copy and distribute verbatim copies of the Program's nationality suffixes:

$\{\eg{-an}, \eg{-e},\allowbreak{} \eg{-ean}, \eg{-er}, eg{-ese},

$\{\eg{-al}, \eg{-ar}, \eg{-ic}, \eg{-ical}, \eg{-ed}, \eg{-ive}\}$, $\{\eg{-al}, \eg{-ly},\allowbreak{} \eg{-ally}\}$.
Sample rules addressing vocabulary incompetence errors are shown in Figure~\ref{fig:rules}.
\subsection{Other spelling error types}
The above-described errors are typical for a typed text.
If the way of introducing the text into a computer is different, other spelling errors may appear.
The rules covering errors introduced during the optical character recognition stage reflect such situations like misinterpreting the pair of letters~\eg{ni} as a single letter~\eg{m}, misinterpreting a letter~\eg{e} as~\eg{c}, and similar.
In our implementation, we assume that the text is typed, so such OCR-specific rules are absent from the set of rules examined in the experiments described in Section~\ref{sec:experiments}.
\subsection{Gathering it all together}
There are a number of substitution rules that may lead to a lot of suggestions.
Since higher cost means smaller relevance between the suggestion and the original non-word, we define a maximal cost of suggestion acceptance.
